accidentals are not carried through to other notes, they are only valid for one note. If there is no accidental that means it is a natural.

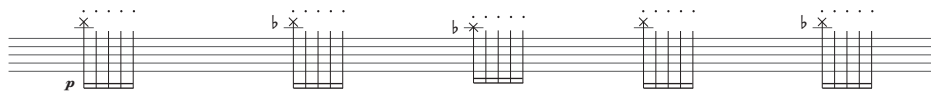

palm-mute, indicated by X noteheads. place the side of the hand on the strings near the bridge of the guitar, so that all notes have a staccato, percussive sound.

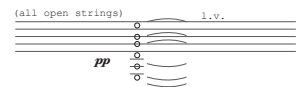

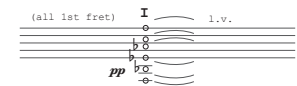

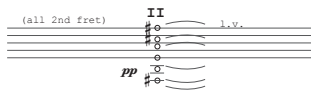

palm-muted high note, exact pitch not given, just a high staccato dead note, that sounds like a high pitched click.

natural harmonic sounding at the notated pitch. In this example, the note is an E one octave above the open high E string -- let ring until the mute symbol.

rapid staccato repeated notes, as short and fast as possible (with palm-mute) the one chord in the piece is the standard open tuning of the guitar. some parts have the open strings, others are stopped at the first or second fret.
